Dancers, Families and Friends of the Arts,

It is with deep excitement and gratitude that we welcome you to our 18th annual production of The Snow Queen! The entire process of putting this year's production together has been wonderful, start to finish. This is especially so because of our fantastic students and musicians. It is a beautiful thing to continue to be together creating, dancing, and performing! Through the support of our dance families, generous sponsors, and talented artists, we have been able continue this incredible artistic collaboration.

We are deeply honored to have the support of Ken and Myra White who not only made the dream of having a live orchestra a reality in 2016, but also made it possible to continue for what is now its seventh year. Their kindness and generosity has made it possible to offer our dancers the opportunity to perform with live music and our audiences to come enjoy a feast not just for the eyes, but also the ears. What an incredible gift!

There are many people who should be thanked for their help and involvement. First and foremost, we would like to thank the Creative Arts Guild Staff and Board who are deeply committed to The Snow Queen and the health, wellness, and success of our organization as a whole. Working alongside such talented, dedicated, and creative individuals is incredibly fulfilling. I am so grateful this is the team of people caring for and loving our Guild!

With endless gratitude, I would like to thank our wonderful Dance Department teaching staff...Rosalyn, Megan, Lyndi, and Sean. Through your excellent teaching and knowledge, and because of the incredible people you are, our student's lives are enriched daily. Thank you for sharing your gifts with our community!

We cannot thank Rodney Bishop enough for arranging the score for our ballet. Through his talent and the time he gave to this project, the possibility of having a live orchestra began to shape into what is now a reality. Here we are celebrating year seven of the Guild Chamber Orchestra! Thank you, Rodney, for this gift!

An orchestra must have a conductor to follow and we are so thankful to Smitty Barnett for holding the maestro's seat again this year. Thank you, Smitty, for bringing your talents, positive energy, work ethic, and your bear hugs to our production! We appreciate you!

Finally...our dance students and families deserve all of the accolades and applause! You all have worked tirelessly to make our production what it is today and seeing you all in the studio week after week has inspired us and lifted us up every day. The honor of working with each of you is beyond words. Thank you for giving your heart and soul to this production and for allowing us the opportunity to have a place in your child's life!

We are thrilled to present our performance to you today! Sit back and celebrate with us as the curtain opens on our 18th anniversary of The Snow Queen!!

THE SNOW QUEEN SYNOPSIS

Act I

Scene I: Opening

We are introduced to the four royal sisters, Spring Princess (a kind but lonely woman); Summer Princess (playful but selfish); Fall Princess (a wild wanderer) and the Snow Queen (beautiful, but cold and conniving). Here, we take a look back to when the Queen of the Sprites and her little Sprites made a magic mirror that controls the seasons of the four sisters. The Snow Queen decides that she wants to possess the mirror alone and steals it with the Sprites' help. When stolen, the mirror shatters into a million pieces and one shard lands in the eye of a village girl, Kay. Snow Queen begins her search to find Kay and get the shard back.

Scene II: The Village

It's dawn in the marketplace. The townspeople enter as the sun is rising and greet one another as they begin to sell their wares. Here we are introduced to the Village Adults, including a magical doll maker who brings a doll and her marionettes to life, Village Children, and close, loving Sisters, Kay and Gerda. All of the villagers are dancing joyously on a lovely morning...but wait! The fortune teller enters the scene, bringing with her a feeling of foreboding. As she tells the future, she hints at the Snow Queen's entrance into the village and the things yet to come. Finally, as the time to head to school and work comes, the village girl Kay is gifted a beautiful hand embroidered handkerchief by the village's Seamstress. Kay shows her beautiful gift to her sister. We are then left only with Kay and Gerda who are frozen by the Snow Queen when she enters to kidnap and take Kay back to her snowy castle to retrieve the final missing shard of glass. During the kidnapping, Kay leaves behind her handkerchief and heads through the seasons to Winter under the Snow Queen's spell. The Dragonflies enter the village and with the help of the Queen of the Sprites and the Enchantress, Gerda is awoken, shown the handkerchief and begins the journey through the four seasons to find her sister in Winter and take her home.

THE SNOW QUEEN SYNOPSIS

Act II

Scene I: The Journey Through Spring

We are introduced to the Spring Princess, a kind but lonely woman who welcomes Gerda with open arms and wishes more than anything that she will stay. Knowing that Gerda needs rest, Spring Princess tells Gerda to sleep, hoping that she will forget her journey. However, the Whispering Roses wake Gerda up and remind her to think of her sister and continue on to the next season.

Scene II: The Journey Through Summer

Here we are introduced to the lovely but arrogant Summer Princess who dances merrily to a very impressed Gerda. However, once she realizes the Princess' intentions for her – to make her a servant – she escapes from Summer's palace and continues on to Fall. Summer sends her Pages after her but to no avail. Gerda is already gone.

Scene III: The Journey Through Fall

Gerda is scared and tired now as her journey has been long. As the Enchantress leads her into the Fall Season, she is introduced to a woman who she hopes will lead Gerda safely through Fall. Unfortunately, the woman double crosses both the Enchantress and Gerda, and sells her to the Fall Princess, the wild and fearsome leader. Fall Princess' daughter, Robber Girl, enters and begs her mother to give her Gerda as a plaything because she has no friends her own age. The Princess finally agrees. In time, Gerda realizes that she must leave because her sister is the most important thing to her. Gerda tricks the Robber Girl into letting her go and her mother, the Fall Princess, reveals her disappointment with her child.

Scene IV: The Journey Into Winter

Gerda, again with the help of the Enchantress, finds her sister Kay with the Snow Queen. Icicles and Snow Storms dance around them, trying to keep them under the control of the Snow Queen. Eventually, the other royal sisters...Spring, Summer, and Fall, along with the Enchantress and Queen of the Sprites...come to the rescue and help Gerda and Kay escape. Kay puts the final shard of glass back in the mirror and returns the mirror to the Queen of the Sprites to be taken away for good. Kay and Gerda rejoice in their reunion!

THEATRE ETIQUETTE

As an audience member, it's important to have appropriate viewer manners for the highest level of enjoyment for both the audience members and performers. Here are ways we can have the best possible experience while in the theatre:

- Please keep cell phones and other devices turned to silent and lights to low, and use your phone only for viewing the digital program while the show is in progress.
- No talking while the performance is in progress.
- Food, candy, and drinks are not allowed in the theatre. This keeps our space neat and tidy and also ensures that no one is disturbed by the sound of wrappers.
- Please only enter and exit the theatre in between dances.
 Wait until intermission or the end of the performance if possible. If you have a young child who cries or can't sit still, please exit the theatre as soon as possible to minimize disruption.
- Stay seated while performers are onstage. Someone behind you might be the proud parent of the dancer who is currently onstage.
- Do not wave at your dancer or yell out their name. The time for applause and "bravos!" is during the dance if something really spectacular happens, at the end of each dance, and we especially love the applause and cheers at the end of the show!
- Absolutely no recording of the production is allowed.
- NO flash photography!! It's very dangerous for the performers. Additionally, if your camera makes a noise when you take pictures, please turn the sound off, or refrain completely. The video equipment picks up the sound...and so do the patrons sitting next to you.
- For the safety of everyone in the theatre, please keep the aisles clear from feet, strollers, bags, etc.
- Do not set anything down on the stage, or let little ones run around either onstage, in the theatre, or in the school lobby.

OUR MISSION: CAPTURE THE POWER OF THE ARTS

The mission of the Creative Arts Guild is to cultivate and sustain the arts in Dalton, Georgia and its surrounding counties.

We do this by:

- Providing education in visual and performing arts.
- Showcasing art and culture through enriching events, exhibits, and performances.
- Providing support for established artists and nurturing emerging artists.
- Supporting public art and maintaining the permanent collection of the Robert T. Webb Sculpture Garden.
- Emphasizing the importance of early and lifelong arts exposure.

In all our endeavors, seeking to make the creative arts relevant, accessible, and enjoyable.

We envision creating a community where:

- Everyone recognizes the value of the creative arts.
- Everyone uses their natural creativity.
- We rejoice in the many expressions of our creativity.
- There are always enough resources for the creative arts in our community.

OUR STORY

Celebrating 60 years, the Creative Arts Guild is the oldest multi-disciplinary community arts organization in the state of Georgia. Founded in 1963 by a group of civic leaders, the Creative Arts Guild began as a community movement originally housed in the Old Firehouse on Pentz Street. The Guild began offering art, music, dance, and theatre classes as well as gallery shows and exhibitions. As programming and class attendance grew, plans for a larger facility were developed. In 1981, the Guild moved to its permanent home at 520 West Waugh Street. The vision of that small group of patrons has grown into an organization that now houses four educational departments as well as Arts in Education outreach programs, events, music and dance concerts, and recitals.

The Creative Arts Guild is a non-profit organization and is supported by donations from individuals, corporations and foundations, instructional fees, commission art sales, facility rental fees, and the City of Dalton. The Guild also provides services to the City of Dalton to support the City's vision of progress and growth.

The Creative Arts Guild logo was first used as a symbol for the Buonarroti in Florence, Italy around 1150 A.D. The symbol became an integral part of the Buonarotti family crest and became synonymous with their honor, wealth, and prominence.

During his childhood, Michelangelo saw this symbol everywhere from archways above the front door to letters written by his family. He started to use the symbol as a motif in many of his architectural designs to represent family, home, security, and wealth.

In 1963, the founders of the Guild chose this symbol to represent the Guild as it embodied many of the values they wanted to convey through the Creative Arts Guild – security, family, home, honor, and a prominent spot in the hearts of the community as well as honoring the tradition of 'guilds' where artisans learned their trades.

Best Wishes

To my little Bug,

As always, you light up the stage! I am so proud of my sweet Gerda! You work so hard and it shows in every step you take! Your dedication and commitment are awe inspiring. Best wishes to the cast and crew of The Snow Queen from Dalton's Mr. Real Estate Congratulations to my sweet Camila on your dance recital. I am so proud of you and love you more than anything! Love you to the Moon-Mom

You have no idea how extremely proud we are of you. You amaze me every day. Your kindness, smartness, honesty, love, talent, and determination are not overlooked or unnoticed. You don't have to say much because people can see all these things shine with your actions. You have become such an amazing dancer and I can't keep my eyes off you, even when you are twirling around in the grocery store, the parking lot, at church, etc. I remember you being a little Dragon Fly in The Snow Queen when you were 5 years old "Seems like just yesterday" and you would always practice the junior and senior company Snow Queen character parts and The Snow Queen backstage. Every Snow Queen that you were part of you would do the same thing and you would say, "Mom I am going to do that one day and I will be the Snow Queen." I still don't know what happened with time, but now you are in your 1st year of Senior company, and you will be Robber Girl and Forrtune Teller, and I couldn't be prouder of you mija. I love you extremely and I can't wait to see you shine on stage. I know you will do great things in the years to come but remember and never forget the key is to always keep GOD first and everything else will align according to HIS will. God will guide you. May God always bless you my amazing princess.

What can I say about my stepdaughter Aria? Aria is one of the biggest blessings in my life. It is an honor to watch her grow up and see her flourish in life. I got to see her in the Snow Queen when Maira and I were friends, when I was dating her mother, and now as her stepdad. I'm excited to see how she grows as a dancer and as a person. May you lean on God always. Love, Ben Smith
